Description

The Opioid Epidemic provides pharmacists information about one of the worst drug problems in recent memory. This program is designed to raise awareness of pharmacist to this problem and how they can be part of the solution.

Objectives

Upon completion of this knowledge-based course, the participant will be able to:

- Discuss addiction as a brain disease that is chronic, relapsing, treatable and preventable
- Review the national and state trends on opioid overdose.
- Discuss key elements of NC's statewide standing order for naloxone (NLX)
- Review NLX pharmacology and product availability and understand how to choose an appropriate product for a patient.
- Describe risk factors for opioid overdose to identify patients at high risk of overdose and NLX candidates
- Describe NLX best practices for the pharmacy, including key points to include in patient education around NLX and opioid therapies.
- Review other national and state initiatives to help stem the tide of the opioid epidemic.
