FACULTY

Ouita D. Gatton, R.Ph, received her BS in biology from Meredith College in Raleigh, NC in 1984 and her pharmacy degree from UNC in 1989. After graduation, she did some consulting, infusion pharmacy, and also worked for several independents and chains. Encouraged by her father, owner of a local, independent pharmacy, Ouita joined the Kroger Pharmacy team in 1997. She has served as staff pharmacist, district clinical coordinator in NC, and Kroger Mid-Atlantic Division clinical coordinator in Roanoke, VA.

While in Virginia, Ouita was responsible for coordinating all pharmacy programs not directly related to dispensing. She offered leadership to 300 pharmacists in 116 pharmacies that touch six states: NC, VA, WV, OH, TN, and KY. As a result of her position, Ouita helped spearhead passage of pharmacy immunization legislation in West Virginia in 2007. She was also profiled in APhA's magazine Pharmacy Today for her pioneer role in coordinating MTM services for Kroger.

When she returned, she staffed and helped to coordinate special projects for Kroger in their NC stores and area communities. She was also very involved in the passage of the NC immunization legislation that expanded pharmacists' vaccine authority in 2013. Her current role is district patient care coordinator for all the Kroger Stores in NC, and is also the residency preceptor at her site in conjunction with UNC. She is passionate about patient care and will seek out any opportunity to make it better. She is a national immunization trainer for APhA, certified in Diabetes Care (APhA) and Medication Therapy Management, chair of NCAP's Community Care Practice Forum, Board member for NCAP, native to Raleigh, NC and loves being married to her husband, John, of almost 4 years.
